

1. Question: Under the current contract, Bechtel Jacobs, as the company responsible for infrastructure services at Portsmouth, has a subcontractor, USEC, who provides union labor, security services, fire services, etc. The budget for such support is around $25M per year. I assume that the new infrastructure contractor will have the same responsibility, ie, using USEC to provide these services. Is this a correct assumption?

Answer: Assumptions should not be made by any potential offeror at this time. The solicitation will set forth the responsibilities of the infrastructure contract.
